The nurse further explained that if the staff call and say the symptoms continued after the initial notification then she would go and assess the client. Otherwise, she issues the prn order to be given. The nurse also indicated that a sore throat could be a sign of COVID but it was not likely given her recent vaccinations. 	Continued From page 2 During an interview after the observation, on 2/8/2021, staff A indicated she would notify the nurse that client #4 was still sick. However, she did not think she would assess her because they don't come in the home. Staff A was not sure why the nurses don't come in the homes. During further interview, staff C was asked if he was going to notify the nurse and he said "Yes." After he notified her, he stated that she said just spray her throat with some sore throat spray. During an interview with the nurse on 2/9/2021, it was revealed that the nurse was not told that client #4 had not eaten. She further indicated no staff had notified her of client #4 not feeling well on 2/8/2021. She did confirm staff had called on Sunday 2/7/2021. She explained that if the staff call and say the symptoms continued after the initial notification she would go and assess the client. However, she indicated she does not like to go to the home because then it is required by policy she not go to any homes for 48 hours. Upon first notification she issues the prn to be given. She admitted that just giving her a prn on 2/9/2021 was probably an oversight because she had not realized the nurse had been called before about the same thing. She indicated Sunday the throat was not mentioned. The nurse also indicated that a sore throat could be a sign of COVID but it was not likely given her vaccinations. No assessment was done and the nurse confirmed it probably should have been done since it was the second notification.
